

“Hey maa! Mataji” - She’s won an AWARD!!!

Disha Vakani wins the award for ‘Best Actress in a comedy role’

Mumbai, December 2008: The ‘8th Idea Indian Television Academy Awards 2008’ has acknowledged Disha Vakani a.k.a ‘Dayaben’ of the hugely popular and well known series ‘Tarak Mehta ka Ooltah Chashmah’ on SAB with an award. Disha won the ITA award for the ‘Best Actress in the comic category’ for her role as ‘Dayaben’. The super hit family comedy which airs at 8:30 pm every Monday to Thursday on SAB, prides itself at being a comedy series that gives meaningful insights into everyday problems in a manner which is laced with humor and aimed at keeping families together.

“Hey maa! Mataji” exclaimed a highly energized Disha Vakani as she was presented the award. In the show, Disha has kept viewers enthralled with her histrionics and funny ways. She is known to love her character so much that besides reel life she continues to portray Dayaben in her real life too. Dayaben is now a household name that the viewers look forward to connecting with everyday.

In her speech on receiving the award she continued to be her on-screen character which left the audience in splits. Adding to all the laughter she said, “Dayaben’s character has made me very popular and I completely love my role. I owe my success to the audience, and want to thank them for accepting me and showering me with all their love and affection.”

Disha believes that comedy is the best medium that today’s audience likes to connect with. It takes them away from their daily routine and gives a doze of laughter which helps them forget all their problems or the mundane everyday life.

So don’t forget to catch all the masti and mayhem on the increasingly popular ‘Tarak Mehta ka Ooltah Chashmah’ every Monday to Thursday at 8:30 pm only on SAB